

The Brussels hearing · Defending your design

What is this sheet about?

This sheet runs a negotiation on the pending case EU Commission vs. TikTok, in four camps and with a fishbowl swap – an open case, so there is no model solution. Its structure (position, evidence, weakness, counter-argument) is the one your final presentation, Part C, runs on. Rehearsing the final presentation itself is up to you and your team, outside lecture and exercise. This is the lecturer's backup date for a cancelled regular session.

Organisation: Work in teams of three, four only if the numbers do not divide. On this sheet, the letters A, B, C and D stand for the team members; a team of three has no D (see first assignment). Settle who is who before the first assignment. Assignments 1 and 2 are team work, assignment 3 is individual.

Backup date: Exercise 6 is the lecturer's backup date, used only if a regular exercise U1 to U5 was cancelled and needs replacing. If so, this will be announced in Moodle.

Submission: The sheet is complete when every person uploads their own transfer sentence (assignment 2) and one change (assignment 3) no later than 48 hours after the session ends. Every submission carries a declaration line: if any AI tool touched it – tool, prompt, what you changed; if none: "No AI used." AI is excluded from the hearing itself.

First assignment (25 minutes): A real regulatory hearing and your own final presentation both ask you to defend a design, and both run on the same structure: position, evidence, weakness, counter-argument.

Distribute the four camps of the pending case EU Commission vs. TikTok ("addictive design", preliminary findings of 6 February 2026; the case is not closed, and there is no model solution, for us either): (A) the Commission, (B) the TikTok defense, (C) a child-protection NGO, (D) the creative industry. In a group of three, the creative-industry camp is dropped. Based on your role reading, condense your position onto one index card: strongest argument · sorest point · one-sentence opening statement. One card, no additional notes. The role reading comes from the Topic 10 bridge, which is voluntary and goes on the Padlet; this sheet does not wait for it. If you come unread, the sources of every camp are in Moodle (Commission preliminary findings, EPRS briefing, BEUC material, TikTok statements): skim one of them in these 25 minutes, and let your camp cover the rest – that is what camps are for. AI stays excluded here too. If time remains, spend it reading one source of the opposing side crosswise.

Second assignment (50 minutes): The hearing. Forty minutes of negotiation: each camp delivers its opening statement (two minutes each, standing, no slides), then free negotiation chaired by the Commission, in which every camp must be attacked at its sorest point at least once. Two closing statements (Commission and defense, one minute each). Argue only from your card and your reading; whoever negotiates unread loses to their fellow students. The evidence rules of Topic 11 apply: only sourced claims count (source, year, institution), the chair strikes "studies show" without a named study, and a pending case stays pending.

Then ten minutes of deframing, out of role: which of the arguments you just made or heard applies to your own notification concept from Exercise Sheet 04? Each team member writes one transfer sentence, "After this hearing, I change ____ in my notification concept.", with the blank actually filled.

Third assignment (30 minutes): The one change. Individually, compile:

1. [OFFEN: Bis hier war das dokumentierte Peer-Feedback der Anker-Bogen aus den Verteidigungs-Panels; die Panels sind gestrichen (keine Probe der Abschlusspräsentation in Vorlesung oder Übung). Worauf stützt sich die eine Änderung jetzt – etwa den Transfersatz aus Auftrag 2? Entscheidung Simon.]
2. The one change you make to your project or your argumentation in response. Exactly one.
3. One sentence why this one and not another.
4. Declaration line.

Your submission on Moodle is a single PDF per person, due 48 hours after the session: the transfer sentence (assignment 2) and the one change (assignment 3).
